WINTER CHECKS HITLER'S PLANS

Company Denies Note Owner Was Its Agent

Court Refuses To Give Directed Verdict
In Suit Over $757

Whether Edward Wennerholm, Monmouth car dealer, was an agent for the Northern Illinois Finance company of DeKalb on March 30, 1939 when he received a $757.50 note from R. E. Murphy, Monmouth druggist, was the subject of a protracted argument before Circuit Judge Luther B. Bratton this morning.

Attorneys for the finance company, which now holds the note, argued that Wennerholm was not the agent and that therefore the company is not bound by an agreement between Wennerholm and Murphy.

Previous testimony had been to the effect that Wennerholm promised Murphy he would not sell the note until Murphy gave him permission.

Denies Agency

Denying agency on the part of Wennerholm, the company's attorneys argued that this could be shown only by the acts or statements of the principal for the purported agent, and demanded that the court give an instruction to the jury to return a verdict giving the company a judgment for the amount of the note.

Attorneys for Murphy argued that Wennerholm was the company's agent, that this relationship had been proved by the fact that the company furnished the forms for the note and an accompanying conditional sales contract, by the fact that the note and contract were endorsed to the finance company, and by the fact that the note and contract had been filled out by a company employee, not Wennerholm.

After the arguments, Judge Bratton did not rule on the question of Wennerholm's agency, but he did deny the finance company's request for a directed verdict.

The finance company's case in chief consisted of entering the note in evidence. Murphy then took the stand in his own behalf, saying that he gave the note to Wennerholm for the purchase of a car, with the agreement that Wennerholm would hold the note and conditional sales contract until he accepted delivery of the car.

Murphy testified that the car was never delivered to him. He denied that he signed the note and contract merely so that Wennerholm could obtain money from the finance company.

The case was expected to go to the jury before this evening. The jurors are:

Clifford Hatch; Albin Anderson and Fred Reed, Monmouth; Charles Source, St. Anne; William Selfert, Bourbonnais; Carrie Hixson, St. Louis; Ruth Kraft, Bernard; Herman Robinson and Florence LaCost, Kankakee.

Murphy is represented by Attorney Charles W. Kurtz, Kankakee, and E. P. Harney, Monmouth; and the finance company by Attorneys Fred R. Stith, Kankakee, L. M. Ochsenberger and Frank Reid Jr., DeKalb.

Son Of Reddick Woman Dies In Accident

Dwight, Oct. 29—(RN Special)—Reuben Oloyd, about 30, farmer residing 3 1/2 miles southeast of here, was instantly killed about 11 o'clock last night in an auto accident four miles north of Dwight on U. S. highway 66.

Oloyd is the son of Mrs. Lou Holm of Reddick. He was driving south on the highway with his wife, Edith, and their two children, Elton, 3, and Janet, 3. A tire on the left side of their car blew out, the machine went out of control and crashed into a stock truck from Long Point.

Mrs. Oloyd was removed to the Veterans hospital here with severe injuries. The children and the driver of the truck were only shaken up. Both vehicles were badly damaged. The body of Oloyd was removed to the Baker funeral home here. P. L. McGuire, Livingston county coroner, will conduct the inquest.

War Can Still Be Avoided, O'Brien Says

Noted Priest Urges
Parents To Awaken
In Address Here

Mothers and fathers were urged to "come to life" before their sons go to their deaths on the battlefield in a talk by the Rev. John A. O'Brien, professor in the graduate school at Notre Dame university, at the American First rally last evening in the Kankakee high school auditorium.

Describing the horrible future that awaits the children of America if the United States is dragged into the present conflict, Father O'Brien stated there is yet time to avoid the holocaust if the people will only make themselves articulate and denounce their senators, the President and secretary of state with individual letters.

The Warmongers constitute only 16 per cent of the population, according to the speaker, who scored the cruel indifference of the other 84 per cent of the population in this country who are permitting themselves to be dragged into the war by their inarticulateness.

Horror Brought Home
He said if parents stop for a moment to visualize the army not as just automaton soldiers but as their own sons being slaughtered, he cannot conceive of how they can remain indifferent. He urged that they start immediately to write letters to Washington. No public officer can afford to ignore the individual letters of constituents, it was pointed out.

Father O'Brien traced step by step the process by which the United States was dragged into the last war.

Name 2 Sheldon Musicians For All-State Event

Sheldon, Oct. 29—(RN Special)—Robert Hootman, a junior in Sheldon high school, has been selected to play the all-state chorus at the all-state high school convention in Champaign on Nov. 7. Robert will sing tenor with a group of about 800 voices selected from high schools all over the state.

Winslow Silvers, a senior, will represent the high school in the all-state orchestra. There are only seven flutists chosen from the entire state and Winslow was selected as one of the seven to play.

many by "Hitler's planners" but had since come into the possession of this government.

The map, the president explained, bore certain manuscript notations which if reproduced might be exceedingly unfair to certain persons and reveal how and from whom the documentary evidence was obtained.

In response to further questions he refused to name the five "vassal" states, but reiterated that under the German plan 14 countries comprising all of South America and part of Central America would have their boundaries changed.

He also said the information had not been turned over to the nations involved as yet because of fear that the source would be discovered and leak out to Germany.

Citizens Eager To Start War On Rodents

Crowds Lined Up
To Get Poisoned
Bait At Stations

Residents in the city and township of Kankakee flocked to distribution stations today to obtain free rat bait which is to be exposed throughout the community Thursday evening.

At several of the stations, persons were lined up before they were opened this morning to receive their share of the bait. All residents are asked to hold the bait until tomorrow evening. Directions for exposing the bait are printed on the sack in which each portion of it is placed.

The local rat extermination committee, however, asked that one change be made. The printed instructions indicate that bait should be used tonight to get best results, but if the bait is placed in a refrigerator or between windows or other cool place, it will keep safely, according to the committee. The best community-wide results can be obtained by simultaneous placing of the poison in all sections tomorrow night.

Use Gas At Dumps
Bernard Kulikana, of LaFayette, Ind., expert in rat control who is directing the local campaign, had a crew of workmen from the city street department treating garbage dumps with gas today. Tomorrow the river banks will be so treated.

After a preliminary inspection of alleys in the community yesterday, he praised the local committee for the special preparations that have been made for the campaign, stating the alleys were in as good a shape as he has found in many cities.

All residents and all business houses are asked to cooperate in the rat control campaign, whether they have rats on their premises or not. This will prevent the pests from moving to other locations.

Burn Garbage
For the next two days the committee requests that no more garbage be placed in alley containers. This will force rats to forage for food and take the bait.

To owners of pets the committee once more reminded that dogs and cats should be well fed while the bait is exposed. Better yet, they should be kept confined. This poison will not kill dogs and cats but might make them sick. It is fatal to rats because they cannot vomit.

No Driver License; In Accident; $6.25

Anthony Ballantino, 31, 224 North Blaine avenue, Bradley, was arrested this morning for failure to have a driver's license following an accident at Fair and Greenwood avenues.

His car collided with the auto of Harry Hoogstraot of Champaign. Officer Harry Balk brought Ballantino into police court where Magistrate Edward Hoennicke assessed a fine of $6.25.

In two other accidents reported yesterday, no one was injured. Involved were cars of Wayne Welske, 105 South Fraser avenue, and Leo Sirois in the 600 block on West Station; Elmer Garreau, 200 West Court street, and the parked machine of Benny Turro, 257 North Indiana avenue, in the 200 block on West Court.

Pleds Not Guilty
Of Vagrancy
Russell Clements, 32 Hopkins Park, recently twice arrested, yesterday entered before County Judge C. D. Henry a plea of not guilty to a charge of vagrancy.

He was arrested Sunday for drunkenness in Hopkins Park and previously had been charged with making threats to Mrs. Bobbie Allen, proprietor of the Hopkins Park store. Clements' trial has been set for early next month, the second case on the county court jury calendar.

Milford Woman Sues For Divorce

Watska, Oct. 29—(RN Special)—Mrs. Laura Evelyn Martin of Milford filed suit for divorce today from her husband Percy Leroy, whom she charged with excessive use of liquor and extreme cruelty.

They were married Dec. 10, 1913 in Milford and separated last Aug. 30. Two of their children died in infancy. The others include one of adult age and one aged 17.

You've Read Mushroom Yarns—Here's the Proof

If the present trend keeps up, mushroom hunters will soon be using widespread arms to indicate the size of their prizes, as fishermen do with the reported catches. But Fenton Morrell, who found a mushroom 53 inches in diameter and weighing 24 pounds, and

Old Officers, Now In Regular Army, Drill Militiamen

Monday night's drill in the armory for the local units of the Illinois Reserve Militia had an extra note of authenticity.

1st Lieut. Frank Morgan, with Co. K, 129th Infantry, at Camp Forrest, and 2nd Lieut. Leroy Frazier, with Co. I in the same camp, put the militiamen through their squads lefts and rights.

Also present were Sgt. Snyder, Corp. Drasens and Pvt. Snell, all Kankakeans home on furlough.

Italian Editor Asks FDR To Produce Document

Rome, Oct. 29—(AP)—Virginia Gayda, Italian editor, again called on President Roosevelt today to produce the German document showing plans to suppress the world's religions.

"If it does not appear within 24 hours concrete in its dictation, intelligence in its dictation, the reputation of Roosevelt the falsifier will arise to the stars," he wrote in Giornale d'Italia.

"But the document will not appear because it does not exist," he continued.

Gayda then said that the United States had less religious freedom than Germany.

"National Socialist Germany respects all faiths and recognizes and protects the necessary freedom for all," he said.

"Catholic churches like the Protestant in German territory are still open and carry out their functions undisturbed."

"The same cannot be said of the United States where Protestant propaganda has attempted to strike Catholicism and where Protestant agents and plots go forth for propaganda of conversion and corruption in various parts of the world."

Leaves $8,000 To Grant Park Woman

Emma Scouteburg of Grant Park is to receive all of an $8,000 Chicago estate, according to press reports from Chicago today.

The estate is that of Mary Nare, Chicago, who died last Sept. 11. Her will, which has just been probated, names the Grant Park beneficiary as a friend.

Sinking Of Nazi Submarines Will Be Kept Secret

British Gravely Concerned
Over Freedom Of Information In America

BULLETIN
Berlin, Oct. 29—(AP)—Fourteen ships totalling 47,000 tons were sunk by German submarines in a six-day pursuit of a heavily-loaded convoy traveling from Gibraltar to England, authorized German radio said today.

They added that a British destroyer—one of the warship guard, the aerarchmen—also was sent to the bottom by a torpedo.

Almost the entire convoy was destroyed, these sources declared.

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—Secretary Knox said today that the navy probably would apply a policy of secrecy to the sinkings of any German submarines in engagements with American war vessels.

Knox flatly declined either to confirm or deny reports, brought to his attention at his press conference, that some German submarines had been sunk.

Told that "rumors and reports of the sinking of subs" had been current here and elsewhere for some time, he said that nothing could be said about that and continued with a discussion of British war policy on such things.

"The British have been in the war a long time," Knox said, "but you haven't read of very many submarines being sunk by the British have you?"

This does not mean, however, that many submarines have not been sunk, Knox said. Withholding of news, however, is "just a matter of obvious policy," he explained.

Mystery Affects Morale
At one point, Knox said in reply to a question about whether any sinkings had actually been accomplished that "you can draw your own conclusions, but don't draw any rash ones."

He said that "when we sink them, we will decide whether to make an announcement on the basis of the safety of our men and victory for our forces."

Knox was asked whether it was not true that at a recent press conference he had said that any engagement involving an American ship would be announced as soon as it became known here. He replied that this policy applied only to an engagement "with a surface raider."

The reason for withholding information about submarine sinkings, the secretary said, is that mystery affects the "morale of the crews of the enemy."

Mr. Beaupre Says He Saved Himself

Leo Beaupre, 1018 Osborn avenue, can swim and he did not need assistance when the motorboat of L. L. Shidder, 1107 S. Wildwood avenue, upset in the Kankakee River Sunday afternoon.

This is Beaupre's version of the accident, saying that he disentangled himself from the canvas he and Shidder were using as protection from the rain and pulled himself upon the overturned boat without assistance.

Shidder suffered a cut on the arm which required several stitches to close and Beaupre's shoulder was wrenched.

University Women Plan To Establish Kankakee Branch

Preliminary steps in the formation of a local branch of the American Association of University Women were taken at a meeting of a group of teachers of the Kankakee high school and several interested women of the community Tuesday evening.

Meeting with the group were Mrs. C. W. Cleverger of Champaign, president of the Illinois state division of the association, and Dean Elizabeth K. Lawson of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers' college at Charleston.

A planning committee was appointed and other women interested in the movement may contact one of them for further information: Mrs. Ralph Francis, Mrs. Harold Root, Mrs. Earl Taylor, Mrs. Donald Schneider, Miss Beatrice Bedard, Mrs. C. S. McClain of Olivet college and Miss Marian Kranz.

The Association of University Women was founded in 1882 and now numbers 65,000 members organized in 860 communities covering every state. Illinois has 40 branches. Nationally the association is a spokesman for higher educational standards and wider opportunities for women.

Admission to membership is limited to women graduates of institutions listed by the national association, a spokesman for the group said today. Although more than 650 colleges and universities admit women, only 256 met the association requirements.

Both speakers will be from Champaign field, who will tell what the armed forces are accomplishing and the other will be from the Elwood Ordnance works and his treatment of the defense program will be from the industrial viewpoint.

Both speakers are officers. Capt. M. P. Ranney, public relations officer from Champaign field, is with the air corps and Maj. John B. Watkins, who holds the same position at the Elwood plant, is an army man. The latter is well known in Kankakee being the son of the late John B. Watkins whose country home on the Grinnell road was one of the show places of the county a few years ago.

Dinner at 6:30 will precede the talks.

Friday evening the club is having its annual halloween party at the Keen home on Justice drive.

North And South Army Camps To Swap Troops

Camp Forrest, Tenn., Oct. 29—(AP)—The army is considering a mass swap of troops between southern and northern camps to condition trainees to varied climate and terrain, Maj. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., seventh army corps commander, disclosed today.

The proposed swap of troops training in the south for men now in northern stations was disclosed by Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, chief of the army's training program, after the Louisiana maneuvers, Richardson declared. No definite steps in the proposed transfers have been announced.

It was considered logical, however, that no shifts of troops would be made until the current war games in the Carolinas end Dec. 1, other than possibly adding to garrisons outside the continental United States.

General Richardson said the proposed exchange of stations would enable men who have trained in the south for the past year to train in the wintry weather of the northland, and likewise would condition troops previously in the north to climatic conditions of the southland.

Sen. Nye Declares Neutrality Revision Invites Attack

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—Senator Nye (R-ND) asserted today that enactment of neutrality revision legislation would "invite attack by sending merchant ships, armed with sling-shots against torpedoes, straight into a submarine blockade."

Nye, consistent opponent of administration foreign policy, opened the senate's third day of debate on the momentous legislation to repeal present neutrality law provisions forbidding the arming of ships and preventing them from entering belligerent ports or designated combat zones. Galleries were crowded.

It was a different situation on the floor where at one time during Nye's speech there were only six senators in his audience.

"There comes a clever word from the west," Nye declared, "that the setting there is 10 to one that if we approve this repealer, the United States will be in the war before Great Britain is in the war."

Claws of War
"The nasty looking claws of war, with all their meanings, were overlooked as the ears were charmed with the gentle purr that repealing the arms embargo and adopting a

Reds' Enemy Is Still Pressing Toward Moscow

Also The Donets Basin,
The Crimea And Rostov
In Great Danger

Moscow, Oct. 29—(AP)—Pravda, organ of the Communist party, declared today that the advance of powerful German armies has not yet been halted, that Moscow, the Donets basin, the Crimea and Rostov are in great danger, but said Hitler's hopes for victory before winter had collapsed.

The Pravda editorial, broadcast by Tass, said the German high command had hurled into the battle against Russia almost its entire land army, artillery and tanks, and nine-tenths of its air force, as well as the armies of Germany's "vassals."

"This spurt created great danger for Moscow, for the Donets basin, for the Crimea and Rostov," Pravda said. "The enemy has not yet been halted. He is still pressing on despite heroic resistance and counter attacks by the Red army which is strewing the route of advance of the Nazi troops with heaps of German corpses."

The communique of the Soviet bureau of information indicated there had been little change in the semi-circular battle line west of Moscow.

The Pravda editorial said Hitler's way to "his goal of world domination" was barred "not only by the U. S. S. R. but also by Great Britain and the United States with their immense material and manpower resources."

"The time will come," Pravda declared, "when all of these will go into action."

The newspaper said that although the loss of western Russian territory was serious the Soviet union "has everything necessary for further resistance."

It spoke of tremendous reserves of manpower and sufficient sources of coal, iron ore, oil, lumber, metals, grain, livestock and foodstuff in the vast reaches to the east.

Cannot Take Capital
Kuibyshev, Russia, Oct. 29—(AP)—General Gregory K. Zhukov's defenders of Moscow were reported attacking today in nearly all sectors of the curving Moscow front and Russian dispatches declared it had become apparent that the Germans would be unable to take the capital.

It was admitted that a German advance to Volokolamsk, 65 miles northwest of the city, had complicated the position of the defenders but on the southwest, around Maloyaroslavets, the Red army's counterattacks were said to be growing in intensity and scope.

Dispatches from the capital said the Germans had lost 60 per cent

Disabled Vets To Have Tag Day Nov. 8

A proclamation setting aside Saturday, Nov. 8, as tag day for Russell G. Mann chapter No. 34, Disabled American Veterans, has been issued by Mayor Albert P. Hatlebakk.

The proclamation says proceeds of the tag day "are used to bring cheer and happiness to the veterans in hospitals and sick beds, who have no other source of income."

lease-lend program of aid to Britain and her allies were by no means acts of war but were really designed to preserve America's neutrality while at the same time helping a gallant people.

"The idea . . . had sufficient charm to make it possible for many who are definitely against actual involvement in war to believe that we could really go for a stroll with the leper of war and come back without having caught the leprosy."

Saying that those who backed repeal of the embargo against arms shipments to belligerents in 1939 had insisted that "they did not even dream of wanting war," the North Dakota senator continued:

Clear To Anyone
"Well, the gloves are off now. The claws are out. The point and purpose of it all is clear to anyone who can read or think. The mouse, the American people, has been played with long enough. Now is the time to gobble it."

"The pending question is this and bluntly this and no less than this: 'Shall America deliberately and consciously go all the way into a shooting war, perhaps upon two oceans, or shall it not?'"

Top-Grade Goods Moving Fast In Various Stores

Better Quality Of Goods Being Purchased; New Customers

By PAUL GESNER and JOHN BECKLEY

New York, Oct. 29.—(The Special News Service)—Storm cellar buying has quietened the movement of top-grade merchandise from department stores at key cities in the east and middle west, trade quarters reported here today.

Better quality furniture, rugs, art objects and decorations, curtains, sheets, towels and women's coats are being bought in volume by people in the $5,000 to $25,000 income class.

Many New Customers
"Scores of customers we hadn't seen in months have been coming in and buying on a scale above ours," said one quality store executive. "Talking with them, we find that those ordinarily wary and shrewd with their money have a feeling that prices are going to be higher, and that many quality items available now may not be in stock later on, as consumer goods production gives way to defense."

Most stores seem to think that the heavy volume of anticipatory sales in the top-grade brackets is definitely borrowing from future business.

"Christmas looks good, but we're not feeling so happy about March and April when income tax payments will put a brake on retail dollar totals," another executive said.

Promising Christmas Season
With the Christmas shopping season promising to be one of the largest in history—the national income is rising steadily—the interest in gifts is reported the broadest in a dozen years. While the bulk of early buying runs to practical gifts, such as apparel and haberdashery, toy and game volumes may reach new peaks.

A pick-up in has been noted in oil and water color paintings, carved wood objects, book ends, finely-bound books, unusual desk sets, glassware and pottery—items

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

Washington, Oct. 29.—Mrs. Roosevelt is acting as publicity agent for the administration firmness against doing anything which is inflationary. To try to hold down wages might violate the Taft-Hartley amendment of the one prohibiting slavery, she says.

The first lady is apparently depending on some kind of statistics accumulated by Mr. Roosevelt's staff, leader Lubin. Mr. Lubin has gathered up some figures to show wages have had practically nothing to do with price increase. His figures are the basis of the whole administration position.

With a $300,000,000 increase in wages and salaries, the Federal Reserve Bank is estimated to have increased only 17 per cent. Volin-Mr. Lubin concludes a mere 1 per cent 40 per cent of the price increase is due to wage increases.

The true facts can be proved. The national income for the year amounted to $86,000,000,000.00. Of this $48,000,000,000.00 was paid in wages and salaries. The figure is at least 56 per cent of production and 4 per cent of the national income.

The Department of Commerce says total salaries and wages paid in the United States in 1940 have increased 25 per cent since before the war. The increase in the cost of living is 35 per cent. The increase in the cost of living is 35 per cent.

Mr. Roosevelt's argument is as bad as Mr. Lubin's basic data. While he fears a flood of money in the hands of the workers, he is not afraid to increase wages indefinitely while prices are limited.

A wage scale rising against a fixed price ceiling could crush every business in the country into bankruptcy. The Federal Reserve Bank is estimated to have increased only 17 per cent.

Night Life In London Still Flourishes

Theaters, Restaurants, Hotels And Night Clubs Open For New Season

By WILLIAM B. DICKINSON
London, Oct. 29.—(UP)—Behind the deserted fronts of smoke-blackened buildings, night life flourishes much as in American cities for those who look for it and have the money to pay for it.

Theaters, restaurants, hotels and night clubs are open for the new season, but the routine of a night out is changed somewhat from pre-war days. Because the black-out rules them up early, one goes to the theater before dinner and then hits the night spots.

Howard's "Birth of the Spirit" is a headline attraction in the theaters which must close by 10 p. m. There's "Night of the Living Dead" and "The Man Who Came to Dinner" is booked for the season.

Alexander Woolcott, visiting here, may make a guest appearance in the title role, which supposedly portrays the life of the famous playwright. The American road show company.

If you prefer movies, there are 12 musical comedies. And if you prefer the movies, there are 12 musical comedies. And if you prefer the movies, there are 12 musical comedies.

A score of famous restaurants know the hard and over the top of the war for cuisine still offer excellent food. In most, the choice is small, but some boast a dozen courses in the main course. In Soho, the Moulin Rouge, the Normandy offers a party. At the Coco D'Or, you can watch the chaf cooking food on a pit over a charcoal fire. If you know the waiter at the Waldorf, he might serve you a dish of strawberries.

Savoy for dancing. The Savoy is the place it has two bands. The restaurants have their epicurean temptations for a price. The good places have oysters on the half-shell for a shilling and 20 pence in the college budget and he did not feel that the men should be required to buy their own.

State and National Corn Picking Contest Staged Near Tonica

Tonica, Ill., Oct. 29.—Theodore Schaefer, manager of the Tonic Corn Picking Contest, announced today that the contest will be held on Friday and Monday, Oct. 30 and 31, at the Tonic Corn Picking Contest grounds near Tonica, Ill.

There was enough corn stretched over the field to house farm machinery and hybrid seed exhibits for the contest, which will be the largest of its kind in the corn belt, it is estimated.

Commercial exhibits and concessions, inconspicuous as they seem on the flat land two miles west of Tonica, are the main attraction of the contest, which will be held on Friday and Monday, Oct. 30 and 31, at the Tonic Corn Picking Contest grounds near Tonica, Ill.

For while exhibitors enter farm visitors with new mechanical corn pickers, all the fun and variety is in the corn belt's harvest classic, the doubleheader state and national corn husking contest—when young farmers ingeniously mechanize and devote 80 grueling hours to husking corn by hand more than 40 bushels of corn apiece.

State Contest Friday
National Monday

The state contest is Friday, the national Monday, both on Schaefer's farm. It is the first time any farmer has been host to doubleheader contests and enthusiastic boosters are asking other exhibitors to join the four-day crowd will total 250,000, which would include the largest population, including the big industrial cities on the Illinois river.

That many people would pay a lot of income tax, but old timers insist that a crowd of 50,000 isn't unusual for a state husking meet and 150,000 was the official estimate when the national was held last year.

Of course, it will be a free gate (you couldn't keep visitors from climbing the Schaefer barn) for an exact count of those who will try to get close enough to hear the state tating against the national showdown, even if they can't see, when 11,000 huskers come to Friday and the best 22 men from eleven states seek the big honor.

Prepare to Feed Thousands
Today you can get a meal on the Schaefer homestead without going into the modest but electrified farm-house. Farm bureaus and bureaus were serving sandwiches and coffee and the 100,000 visitors and his grandchildren did their own chores and helped with the strawblossing as well as the corn husking. They were prepared for the harvest and every stubble for miles around was a potential parking lot.

To Prove Efficiency Of The Drunkometer In Kansas City

Kansas City, Oct. 29.—(AP)—Wanted: Drivers who like to take a snort or two before taking the old bus out.

The police department is going to give them all the whiskey they want and start them out in automobiles to determine just how dangerous a drunk driver is.

Wolverines, Preparing For Illini, Recall '39 Game

Hutson's Pass Catching Worries Bears

Green Bay Star Haunts Coach Halas

Catching A FEW OFF FIRST

Chicago, Oct. 29.—(AP)—For all anyone knows, Bob Zupke may be brewing up a poisonous potion for Michigan's Wolverines at Champaign this week.

Whenever anyone mentions Illinois and football to a Michigan fan, he promptly recalls 1939, the last time the two teams met. It was a Zupke pitfall. That was the season of Illinois 16, Michigan 7. Zupke, who was a professional football player in the Illinois 1939 team, 20, Michigan 7, and the end of Big Ten and national title hopes for Michigan and its mascot.

That Michigan's only two losses in 1939 should have been to Illinois and the Wolverines, for the two teams that played Pitts. Crisler's team that year wound up with identical records of three wins, four losses and one tie.

Leonard Bernstein, who reported for freshman football at Illinois, has gotten in his knucks at Michigan and won again. That points out the situation is a bit different. In 1939 Michigan was unbeaten and on top; this year Wolverine morale is low after the bruising taken from Minnesota.

Badgers Face East Syracuse's appearance Saturday at Wisconsin is a defeat out of an eastern team at Madison since 1938 when Michigan was beaten by the Badgers. By contrast the 1941 Pitt team has been an easy mark for every Big Ten team it has faced. (Purdue, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State, Northwestern, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Illinois.)

That the Buckeyes are hopeful of pulling back Glat and Halfback Dick Walker, both recently incapacitated, may play Saturday. Northwestern thinks it may have the reply to last year's 13-12 defeat in the hands of the Wolverines this year and will be in there again.

With the critical Army game next for Notre Dame, Coach Frank Leahy is reassured on one point: that the Irish would do it if they were ever behind in a game. "We know the boys to be behind," he said, after Notre Dame trailed Illinois for a 2-6 Saturday, "they continue playing and play their percentages."

Purdue was worried plenty when it was found Halfback KENNY BUCK wouldn't be able to play against Purdue Saturday, but Bob Chester has given such a good account of himself that Coach Mal Edward is cheering up. "Iowa is giving up contact with us," says the coach, "and we are giving up contact with the Hoosiers. The record of the Hoosiers is 1-1. The record of the Hoosiers is 1-1. The record of the Hoosiers is 1-1."

Prep grid notes.—The important Bradley-Monroe high school football game, which will decide the 1941 Kankakee Valley conference championship, will be played on Bradley's field Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, instead of Thursday, as was previously announced. The game had been originally scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

Bradley will enter the fray in top shape physically, having emerged from its crushing victory over Morris last week-end without a bruise. Monroe, with a tricky faster team, suffered several injuries, including a broken arm, but is reported in good shape for the impending battle Friday.

The two teams shared the KVC crown last season and are unbeaten in conference competition this season.

Injured in Fresh Game.—In a tight tussle at Evanston, with the western conference title at stake, it was Swager who punched through the Wildcat's defense, while Ray Postekar had a front tooth knocked so loose it may have to be re-attached.

While Bradley and Monroe are preparing for their vital encounter Friday at Evanston, the two teams' prep squads are equally busy in preparation for their clash Saturday night under the lights at Alton field. The game will be the annual St. Patrick's homecoming battle.

Both teams have suffered the share of defeat this season and on the basis of past performance, the Irish do have an edge in Victor. The game will close the St. Patrick season.

Kankakee high school's squad is jolted this week, awaiting its finale against Ottawa, there, Nov. 1. Meanwhile, the Kankakee football team is conducting a football clinic for seventh and eighth graders, which will run through the day after tomorrow with the Kay heavyweights demonstrating plays to the grade schoolers.

Officer Outwitted.—Application blanks for membership in the national association of semi-pro umpires include a question about the ump's vision. One from Kankakee reads: "One day for says okay but ten thousand fans say I'm blind."

PHILIP LEARNING FAST.—In a tight tussle at Evanston, with the western conference title at stake, it was Swager who punched through the Wildcat's defense, while Ray Postekar had a front tooth knocked so loose it may have to be re-attached.

While Bradley and Monroe are preparing for their vital encounter Friday at Evanston, the two teams' prep squads are equally busy in preparation for their clash Saturday night under the lights at Alton field. The game will be the annual St. Patrick's homecoming battle.

Both teams have suffered the share of defeat this season and on the basis of past performance, the Irish do have an edge in Victor. The game will close the St. Patrick season.

Rockford Schools To Close November 7 Until January 5

Rockford, Ill., Oct. 29.—(AP)—In the editor's mail today came the following:

"Dear Mr. Editor: I am the mother of five children, Johnny in the first grade; Tim in the third; Nellie in the sixth grade and my two big boys, George and Willie in high school.

"Now they're going to close the school on Nov. 7 and keep them closed until Jan. 5, 1942, because the school board's out of money."

"What am I going to do with five kids in my house for eight weeks? Isn't there some way to keep the schools open? Why don't we put on a big dance in the armory and raise money that way?"

The editor's mailbox is filled with similar plaintive queries from mothers who just can't imagine that the Rockford public school system is in such a financial straits that they must close. Hundreds of citizens suggest panaceas ranging from lotteries to public contributions to finance education for the city's 13,000 grade and high school pupils.

But the school board has decreed that it will not go farther into debt and so the schools will close on Nov. 7 and 475 teachers are looking for part time jobs to patch out salaries badly dented by "black-out" of the schools.

Brewing Since 1931
The financial crisis of the schools has been brewing since 1931 when real estate valuations started dropping from a maximum of $85,000,000 to a present day level of $55,000,000 while the educational tax rate has remained stationary at $1.50 per $100 assessed valuation.

The school weathered the depth of the depression by curtailing services and cutting teachers' pay. In the early post-depression years large gobs of delinquent taxes of the early thirties poured in.

Each year the deficit ran upwards of $150,000 and was absorbed by bond issues. Then the voters approved a $1,600,000 bond issue so that the community could take advantage of a $1,500,000 PWA grant and build two high schools to replace the antiquated Central high school building.

School officials were hopeful when legislation was passed which would have permitted Rockford's single unit system to set an educational tax rate as great as systems where grade and high schools are operated separately. Under the latter the law permits each unit to levy $1 for educational purposes and a $2 educational tax rate would solve all of Rockford's school financial problems. Its legal limit now is $1.50.

But Gov. Dwight H. Green vetoed this legislation, holding that taxes shouldn't be increased unless the people of Rockford vote for them.

That was precisely what the board of education decided, although in three previous referendums over a period of six years the voters consistently rejected tax increase proposals.

Up Against Stone Wall
And so Rockford finally was up against the stone wall. No money, no schools, and when you find out there's no way out you do precisely what Mayor C. Henry Bloom did to relieve his community's dire distress... you appoint a committee to look into things.

Mayor Bloom now has a committee of 44 highly placed citizens pouring over statistics and interviewing rank and file citizens preliminary to compiling a report which, it is now indicated, will recommend that a special election be held next February and that the voters ratify a proposal that the school educational tax rate be increased from $1.50 to $2.

Meanwhile, the mothers are up in arms. School officials are confident that after an eight week session with a houseful of kids they will be ready to march to the polls and vote any tax rate increase that will keep open the schools.

A special election will cost in the neighborhood of $5,000 and there is considerable public grousing about such an outlay for a referendum next winter when it could be held along with the April primary at practically no cost.

However, Supt. Selmer Berg is fearful that if the referendum waits until next April, the voters will be too numb from the shock of federal income tax increases to even get to the polls.

Military Mission To Iraq Is Plan Of United States

By STERLING F. GREEN
Washington, Oct. 29.—(AP)—The United States will send a military mission to Iraq, it was learned on reliable authority today, to study the feasibility of constructing the unfinished link in the historic Berlin-to-Bagdad railway as a route for war supplies to Russia.

The army group will investigate a British proposal for spanning the 100-mile gap in the Iraq railway to link the Persian gulf with the Turkish rail system, which has direct connections with Russian railroads east of the Black sea.

Ironically, completion of this project would put at the service of Germany's enemies, Britain and Russia, a vital part of the Berlin-to-Bagdad railroad which was the unfulfilled dream of Kaiser Wilhelm II. Britain was reported to have asked lend-lease assistance for the project, along with requests for aid to improve the trans-Iranian railroad, farther east, and for delivery of 200 locomotives, 4,500 freight cars, many tons of rails and other equipment to build up rail transport in the middle east.

The project is part of a broad, British-conceived program for developing a rail and highway system in the middle east capable of handling a huge volume of war materials, defense sources said. For this there appeared to be a three-fold purpose:

1. Keeping Russia in the fight, even though the Red armies are pushed back beyond the Ural mountains, and other supply routes are blocked.
2. Preparation to supply military equipment to Turkey if that country ultimately should be forced into belligerency.
3. Development of an adequate military transport system for both troops and supplies should the middle east develop into a major war front instead of a secondary one.

TUNNEL BONDS
MOCK LAWYER
Mobile, Ala., Oct. 29.—(AP)—A lawyer who once described bonds of the Bankhead tunnel under the Mobile river as "the greatest fraud ever perpetrated on the treasury of the United States" must admit his error. Because $100,000 worth of the bonds, offered for sale, brought $108,000.80, and they do not mature for 30 years.
